

NATIONAL EDUCATOR

Kimberly Flannagan

Kimberly Flannagan started sewing over 40 years ago with her mother and became an avid quilter in 1998 after becoming the recipient of a comfort blanket for her infant daughter. After completing over 50 comfort quilts on her domestic machine, she purchased her first Handi Quilter longarm machine and quickly became intrigued with the longarm quilting process.

In addition to being a HQ National Educator, Kimberly teaches classes across the country in quilt shops, quilt shows, and quilt guilds. Kimberly has used her mastery of Pro-Stitcher® to complete countless comfort quilts as well as the hundreds of quilts she has finished for both her clients and herself. Whether it is helping people finish quilts for family and loved ones, or for charitable organizations, she gets great satisfaction in sharing her love of quilting with others and helping them to experience the joy of that freshly finished quilt.

She started free-motion machine quilting on the original Handi Quilter table frame with her domestic machine in the early 2000's, then moved to a HQ Sixteen® in 2011, and since 2017, she quilts with her HQ Infinity® with Pro-Stitcher®. Kimberly loves to combine various techniques including rulers and free-motion quilting to her Pro-Stitcher quilting.

Kimberly lives in North Carolina close to her daughter and her family.
